

Hard Drive: Consolidation Cable Kit

Apple now has a LED/SCSI ID cable kit that contains most, if not all, cables necessary when exchanging the hard drives of different drive vendors. This cable kit allows you to make sure you can finish the repair without having your customer wait for the correct cable to arrive.

All of the cables in the kit are available from Apple separately. This kit just makes the exchange easier. After you have used a cable from the kit, you should order a new cable, not the entire kit. All replacement drives will be shipped without cables or carriers. Remove all cables and carriers from the drive before returning the drive to Apple.

For more information on replacement drives, refer to the Service Source CD (path: Hardware, Drives, Hard Drives - SCSI Drives, Additional Procedures) and the Service Price Pages.

For periodic updates to the cable charts, refer to the Tech Info Library, article number 30370.
