Power Macintosh 5400: Flashing Mark at Startup (7/96)

Article Created: 24 July 1996

TOPIC -----

Sometimes when I attempt to start up my Power Macintosh 5400/120 computer, a flashing question mark appears on the screen. What could be causing this?

DISCUSSION -----

It is likely that you are holding down the button on the mouse while starting up the computer. Holding down the mouse button at startup causes the computer to attempt to eject a floppy disk. However, if you do not have a floppy disk installed, the flashing question mark appears. If you release the mouse button, the startup process will continue normally.
