System 4.1: Incompatible With Adobe Fonts

This article last reviewed: 8 November 1988

The Font Initializer software that keys Adobe's downloadable fonts to a particular printer is incompatible with the Universal System (4.1) release. Font Initializer bombs with various ID='s during launch.

For those who have already upgraded to the Universal System (4.1/5.5), and need to install new Adobe downloadable fonts, there is a workaround. Start up with the System file on the initializer disk, which is 3.2/5.3, and proceed with the initialization. Then restart with the newer System, and the font will be there, ready to use.
