LaserWriter: Be Sure To Use Labels Rated for Laser Printing

TOPIC -----

I'm using a LaserWriter II to print 50 sheets of standard Avery labels at a time. I'm concerned that so many labels will begin to stick to the printer's drum. Avery, the label manufacturer, claims there will be no problems. Are there any problems printing this quantity of labels on a LaserWriter?

DISCUSSION -----

If the labels are rated for use in Laser printers or copiers, there shouldn't be problems with that quantity. We strongly suggest that you use manual feed input and the face-up output tray.
